NEW JERSEY

PERFORMING ARTS CENTER (NJPAC)

The New Jersey Performing Arts Center is located near Gateway Center; Newark's Penn Station, and the Ironbound District. With two theaters, the 2,750-seat Prudential Hall and the intimate 500-seat Victoria Theater, NJPAC is the result of a dream – a dream of excellence and universality in the performing arts – which has become a reality through the support of the State, the County of Essex, the City of Newark, the federal government, a public-spirited private sector, and a determined, culture-loving population. A new kind of performing arts center, one equipped to present world-class events representing every conceivable art form, both traditional and popular, NJPAC stands as a symbol of community, excellence in artistic expression, and international cultural exchange.

SUMMER YOUTH PERFORMANCE WORKSHOP

Classes:

The Summer Youth Performance Workshop is NJPAC's five-week, full day program for artistically talented young people, ages 13-18 (and advanced 11 and 12 year olds). The program is designed to offer students a unique opportunity to study vocal music, theater and modern dance with top professionals in each field. The classes are dedicated to giving each student focused, discipline-based instruction in their major. Guest artists and field trips will augment each student's artistic experience. In residence at the New Jersey Performing Arts Center, the Summer Youth Performance Workshop is located in the hub of New Jersey's newest location for artistic performances and innovative education programs.
